WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1876.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

Alt. Mapa, of San Diego, a late employee of the Internal Revenue Department, has been indicted by the United States Grand Jury in San Francisco.

Bradley Barlow is again under examination by the House Postal Committee, as to the charges of fraud and misappropriation of the money of the United States.

The Union Pacific road is blockaded with snow between Rawlins and Bitter Creek. The passenger train bound West, due at Green River at 7 o'clock yesterday morning is lying at separation. The passengers train bound East, that passed Green River last night is lying at Washburn.

A heavy snow storm commenced in New Hampshire and extends throughout the State.

The steamer Camille from Bermuda, the Ladies from Aspinwall and City of Paris from Queenstown, have arrived at Sandy Hook.

The heaviest storm of the winter set in at Ogdensburg, New York, last night. It snowed all night and there is now 12 inches of snow on the ground.

Ben. Butler has avowed himself the author of the statement that charged Pendleton with corruption.

The schooner Maggie M. Weaver went ashore near Sandy Hook yesterday.

Ex-Senator Stewart was examined on the Emma Mine question this morning at Washington.

The Republican suggests as a reason why the Legislature is so prodigal in appropriations to establishments for the insane, that the members are providing future homes for themselves. It won't do. Fools only act for to-day taking no thought of to-morrow.

It turns out that the Express manufactured out of whole cloth its item about Colonel CRAWFORD having telegraphed Senator LANE that he could operate the L. A. & I. Railroad and make money under the provisions of the ARCHER bill. In a card in last evening's issue of the Express Colonel CRAWFORD denies that he telegraphed anything of the kind. We doubt if even LINTON could increase the falsifying powers of our contemporary.

The Responsibility.

If we accept as correct the conclusion of Republican journals on the Democratic majority in Congress and through it on the Democratic party, rests the responsibility of the defeat of the Texas Pacific Railroad bill, and we are assured that this responsibility will be made to hang about the party's neck in the approaching Presidential campaign with the weight of a thousand mile stones. As the party is already indicted on this grave charge it will perhaps be as well to examine the indictment and learn to what extent it is likely to weigh down the organization which it seems is forced to carry it in the race so soon to come off. We shall assume that the party pleads guilty to the charge of defeating the Tom Scott Texas Pacific Railroad bill, and having done this, let us look at the probable consequences likely to follow conviction on the indictment. The people of the South and East and those of Southern California earnestly demand the construction of a Southern overland railroad. The prosperity of fully one-half the nation will be directly, and that of the other half indirectly, advanced by the building of such a road and hence the almost universal demand for its construction. Has the Democratic party defeated this great wish of the people? If it has it deserves and will receive the denunciation of the entire commonwealth. But we deny that it has done so. Further than this we assert and will prove to the satisfaction of all fair minded men that in defeating the Tom Scott bill the Democratic party have not only facilitated the building of a Southern overland road but have saved the people three hundred and fifty million dollars. The Scott bill provides that the Government shall become responsible for the interest on the bonds of the road and this interest foots up three hundred and fifty million dollars. It also gives Scott and his associates an exclusive franchise, and does not demand an early completion of the road. Under the Scott subsidy bill it would be years before we possess the much coveted road. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company have proffered to build this at once, and ask therefor no other assistance from the Government than the alternate sections of land once granted to the Scott party and by them forfeited while lobbying for a money subsidy of three hundred and fifty million dollars. Even while the Texas Pacific ring managers are idling away their time hanging around Congress, the Southern Pacific company are hard at work and have already pushed their road Eastward one hundred and twenty-five miles from Los Angeles. If the Scott subsidy bill had passed it would have given the Texas Pacific company the right to build the road from side to side of the continent and thus killed the work now being pushed energetically forward by the Southern Pacific, added three hundred and fifty million dollars to the burden of taxation already so heavy that it is crushing the people and delayed the completion of the road for years. But, so reads the Republican indictment of the Democratic party, the Democratic majority in Congress have stepped in, saved the people three hundred and fifty million dollars and thereby secured the much desired road and guaranteed its completion at a much earlier date than we could have hoped for had the Scott bill become law. These are the facts set forth or implied in the indictment, and we have no doubt the Democratic leaders are perfectly willing to have this part of their record paraded against them in the Presidential campaign. If it is industriously handled by the Republicans it will increase the Democratic strength at least one hundred thousand votes.

A Good Boy.

Our Reverend friend, Mr. G. W. LINTON, is writing a series of very rare letters from this city to the Akron Argus, about Southern California and the Los Angeles Express. According to LINTON this is the worst country on the face of the globe. The desert of Sahara is a blooming Paradise compared with Los Angeles valley and the Arabian Nights are the embodiment of truth compared with Senator JONES' Los Angeles paper. G. W.—which we suppose stands for GEORGE WASHINGTON though GEORGE WASHINGTON LINTON is very unlike our GEORGE who could not tell a lie, or MARK TWAIN who could but wouldn't for G. W. L. can and does—proceeds to tell how the birds eat up the peas and turnips; how the crows and blackbirds destroy the corn crop; how the rabbits go for the potatoes; how the things that fly in the air go for the figs, peaches and pears; how irrigation superinduces rheumatism; how he knows of a number of men whose health has been destroyed by wading in mud and water waist-deep while irrigating their worthless acres; how it does not rain here from May to November; how the grass dries up and stock must live from the product of the farm; how the markets are glutted and nothing can be sold; how from ten thousand acres seeded to barley not a bushel has been harvested; how society is not desirable; how there is a general disposition to swindle the stranger; how men are leaving and returning to their old homes in the East as fast as they can get away; how titles are imperfect; how the Express lies and deceives the people and how a great many other things transpire here that he does not admire. We like GEORGE WASHINGTON LINTON and the Express likes him and he likes the Express. We cannot however help thinking G. W. L. made a mistake in selecting a profession. The gospel does not require his peculiar style of talent. He should have written dime novels for a year or two and then attached himself to the editorial staff of the Express. He can earn more misstatements into a column than any man we ever know outside of the Express office.

A Prize Fight in Nevada.

VIRGINIA CITY, March 21st.—The long talked of prize fight for $500 between Sullivan, champion of Australia and Trevillian of this place came off this morning on the Carson river. A special train left the depot at 8 o'clock with the combatants and about 250 of the fancy ostensibly for the Mount House, but on hearing that station it was discovered that the Sheriff of Ormsby, Stoney and Lyons counties were on hand to prevent the meeting and the engineer was instructed to run past, which he did, leaving the officers standing on the platform. They stopped a few miles beyond and pitched the ring near the county line. At half past 11 o'clock the men entered the ring, both apparently in fine condition. Trevillian was the heavier by about twenty pounds, but Sullivan's reputation for science and staying qualities made him a favorite. The fight being called by "men stepped to the scratch and the fight began, both were cautious and did some good sparring. Trevillian got in a light blow on Sullivan's nose without drawing blood. Sullivan then got in one on Trevillian's mouth and the fight followed. When suddenly Trevillian got in a tremendous blow, knocking Sullivan completely off his feet, he fell flat on his back and when his seconds got to him he was bleeding profusely from the mouth and nose. This virtually settled the fight. Sullivan staggered to the center. On time being called for the next five rounds only to be knocked down without making any resistance. On time being called for the 7th round Trevillian came up smiling, but it was all Sullivan could do to walk to the scratch. Trevillian struck Sullivan a heavy blow on the cheek knocking him down and ending the fight.

Heavy Snow Storm.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The heavy fall of snow which occurred yesterday has nearly all disappeared, owing to the continuous rain which followed. The rain this morning is intensely disagreeable; the streets are filled with slush. A dense fog hangs over the city, and a steady rain is falling. The temperature is 45 above. The fog bells are kept ringing incessantly on the rivers to prevent accidents.

A Sad Death.

On last Tuesday, a soldier, belonging to one of the companies at Camp Lowell, and who had been drinking heavily, brought up in his wanderings at the house of Mr. Rodriguez, in the western part of town, and laid down by the house, using an adobe for a pillow. He had lain there for several hours, asleep, when, on approaching him to discover the cause of his motionless quietude, he was found to have sunk to sleep forever. Coroner Smith summoned a jury who ascertained the facts, that the deceased was named Michael Ryan, that he was a native of Ireland, about 45 years of age, and that he came to his death March 7, in this county from the effects of excessive use of spirituous liquor. The jury returned a verdict of "Drunkenness."

PACIFIC COAST.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, 21.—The No. 1308 and 1312, Guerrero street, were entered by burglars on Sunday night and numerous articles stolen. In one of the houses there was jewelry of the value of several thousand dollars, but it was not taken by the burglars.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon W. Hillgass, of the Pioneer Citizen of Oakland, fell in an epileptic fit at his home in Berkeley and expired in a few minutes. The deceased was 55 years of age and was one of the wealthiest and most prominent business men in Oakland, being of the old established livery firm of Shattuck & Hillgass. The Oakland City Council was in session last evening, and passed a resolution of respect for deceased.

James Thompson, seaman on the steamer Coquille which arrived today from Eureka, fell overboard on the 12th inst. and was drowned. About 3 o'clock this morning a burglar looked into the residence of A. M. Thurbolt on Spear street, gathered a lot of clothing and was about to leave the premises when his movements were observed by the lady of the house, who awoke the family and the burglar fled. When he ran off, an officer overtook the fugitive who made some resistance but was knocked down with a club.

About 4 o'clock this morning an officer passing the Humboldt saloon on Pacific street saw a glimmer of light inside, and knowing that the place had been closed he reentered and ascertained that a burglar had entered the place by forcing the rear entrance. The officer corralled the prisoner in the yard. He proved to be Ah Lay, a well known Chinese thief.

Antone Lopez, a cook, returned to his cellar on Broadway yesterday overladen with whisky and because his wife had not prepared the meal to please his taste he dug out a brick from the chimney and belabored her with it in the most shameful manner, doing his wife considerable damage. The Italian fishermen will circulate a petition for a law for the protection of the fish in the harbor and expect to get 10,000 signatures within a few days.

Night Dispatches.

[FROM THE SPECIAL REPORTER OF THE DAILY HERALD.]

Legislative Proceedings.

SACRAMENTO, March 21st.—The Senate met at 10 A. M. The Lieutenant Governor in the chair. A bill from the Committee on Education, reported back Carpenter's Assembly bill reorganizing the school system and public education of the State, recommending that it do not pass. This recommendation was unanimously concurred in by the Committee.

O'Connor from the Committee on Claims reported adversely upon the Senate bill giving an annuity to Jas. W. Marshall, the discoverer of gold. There is another bill with the same object which has passed the Assembly and is now on the Senate floor. The chances of its passing are about equal to the other.

In accordance with notice, Farley moved to reconsider the vote by which Agnew's stamp act was passed by the Senate yesterday. The motion was indefinitely postponed.

The special order was taken up and Farley defended the position assumed by the Committee on Corporations. Their conclusion was that the testimony and evidence presented to them and had made their recommendation in the spirit of equity and what they conceived to be right in the premises. As to the insinuations which had been thrown out in regard to the action of the committee, he repudiated them with scorn. The Senator from Santa Clara should bear in mind that when he speaks of the lobbyists of the railroad company filling the Legislative Hall, and using every means to entice members from their duty; that the greatest lobbyist of them all was a warm friend and promoter of the Archer bill, and such for no honest or disinterested purpose. Cohen was not wanting in comparison. He could point to several now in this Senate chamber, they have been hovering around this Senate during the whole session. He then proceeded to a close analysis of the Archer bill, showing new inconsistencies and injustices. The principal point made by the speaker was, that the bill if it passed would stop all the short railroad lines in the State. He made this clear to the Senate beyond any further doubt. The bill was founded on a wrong assumption and no amount of amendments could rectify it.

Farley closed by stating that he was firmly opposed to the passage of the Archer bill and should advocate the passage of the O'Connor Commission bill. He would not be a party to unfair legislation of the character of the Archer bill.

Lewis then rose and said he had conferred with his constituents to ascertain what their wishes were and the instructions were that he should oppose the passage of the Archer bill in all its stages.

Nunan offered a substitute for the whole subject matter. Laid on the table.

McCoppin announced himself as against the Archer bill but in favor of any equitable measure like the O'Connor bill.

Lindsey was a pronounced advocate of the Archer bill.

Tuttle thought the Archer bill fair and equitable. He had intended until a few days since to vote against the bill, but he was now constrained to vote for it believing it to be of a character which would commend it to the people of the State.

The debate then closed and the question further postponed until to-morrow morning. The evening session was also postponed.

Adjourned.

The Assembly met at 10 A. M., the Speaker in the chair.

Archer, from the Committee on Corporations, reported in favor of the bill incorporating the city of San Diego.

Lambourn, from the Committee on Agriculture, presented a report upon McConnell's bill appropriating monies for the payment of the present outstanding indebtedness of the State Agricultural Society, Carter, Ostrom, Biggs and Ruggies of the Committee recommending its passage while Lambourn and Jones announced themselves as favorable to the bill provided that the aid extended to the State society be also extended to all the various district and county societies of the State.

Cornwall, from the Committee on Public Buildings, reported in favor of the Senate bill appropriating $200,000 for the erection of buildings at San Quentin, with several amendments, among which was one removing 500 of the convicts at San Quentin to Folsom for employment in the granite quarries at the branch prison at that place. The report read as follows: The present inferior and ill adapted structures at San Quentin badly need re-building, and Folsom will furnish the necessary and proper material therefor, and give adequate employment to all prisoners, thereby making their labor of value to the State without coming in competition with the mechanical skilled labor of the honest tax-payer.

A veto message was received from the Governor announcing that he withheld his approval from the Assembly bill in relation to allowing charitable societies to receive bequests by will. The reasons for such action were set forth at length in the message. Upon the question shall the bill become a law notwithstanding the veto of the Governor the roll was called and the veto sustained by a vote of 3 yeas to 68 yeas—McConnell, Murphy and weatherill voting ayes.

The general file was then considered and the Senate bill establishing a State force for the arrest and detection of criminals was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 35 yeas to 34 yeas.

Broderick gave notice of reconsideration.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole upon the consideration of the concurrent resolution urging upon Congress the adoption of such measures as will result in the protection of the valley lands, harbors and bays of the State from serious injury being done to them by the discharge of debris from hydraulic mines. The resolution gave rise to a debate of several hours. It was practically a contest between the mining counties opposing the resolution with great force and persistence, and the representatives from the agricultural districts as strenuously advocating its passage. Upon a call of the yeas and noes the resolution was passed by a vote of 38 yeas to 29 yeas, resulting in a closely contested victory for the agriculturists.

The Archer bill is the absorbing topic of conversation in and about the Legislature. The opponents of the bill claim to have a majority of votes against it, while the friends of the bill gather encouragement from each day's argument. Their principal hope rests upon the bill being so amended as to exempt different short roads in the State from its provisions, thereby gaining the support of several Senators who will under no circumstances support the bill. It now stands whether the opponents of the bill, who are the agricultural districts, be greatly in excess of its supporters, will allow of any amendment being made yet remains to be disclosed.

Thus far no opportunity has offered of making a reliable approximation of the standing of the Senate upon the question of legislation of fares and freights. The State has already set itself upon the record against subsidy in every form, but this is by no means to be taken as an index of their action upon the bill now pending. Of the Senators representing the lower counties of the State Graham and Satterwhite are invariably against the proposed legislation, while Senator Bush is an uncompromising friend of the bill. He will however as an evidence of his wish to do justice on all sides consent to prompt amendment. The vote has now been postponed another day to give Senators an opportunity of placing themselves on record. In consideration of the fact that every member of the Senate wishes to have his vote on this important question properly understood and in order to do this he has been obliged to wait, and thereby consuming much time. It is beyond any possibility to state definitely when the final fate of the bill will be determined.

There will be an auction sale of 3,000 extra pipe staves to take place at the Alameda street depot on the 1st of April. The goods were consigned to E. Messenger and will be sold to pay charges.

It is reported that an eight-horse power corn-sheller belonging to and under the direction of Mr. Russell of Ranchita is going through the extension of Mr. Levy at the rate of a quintal per minute.

Mr. J. E. Hollenbeck of Graytown, Nicaragua, is in our city. He is a gentleman of much wealth and largely interested in Los Angeles property. Mr. Hollenbeck exhibited his good judgment while away by having the Herald forwarded to him.

Swanwick has been arrested in San Francisco on a requisition from Sheriff Alexander. He will be brought down this week and will have to answer to the charge of forgery. It is almost a pity that his good intentions to purchase a printing office should be thus nipped in the bud.

Mr. R. W. Jackson advertises a fine lot of abalone shell Jewelry and Yankee notions of California work at Bonestell & Co.'s Book Store. His stock comprises brooches, ear-rings, sleeve-buttons, card cases, glove and jewel-boxes, etc. The work is extremely novel and attractive and is well worth inspection.

The Gazette has it that day before yesterday a large bald eagle swooped down upon and attempted to carry away the eight-months-old child of Mr. Fithian, who lives near the foot-hills. The screams of the child attracted its mother, who with considerable difficulty succeeded in driving the eagle away.

We are in receipt of a number of oranges from the grove of Mr. O. H. Bliss, Alameda street, which are larger in size and finer in quality than we have ever seen in this or any other country. These oranges verify our opinion heretofore expressed that if our orange growers pruned down their trees and grew fewer oranges they will produce larger and better ones.

Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express brought down by the Senator the neat sum of $101,000 for the Southern Pacific Railroad. There were, altogether, thirty-four boxes of coin. A large portion of the money was deposited in the Farmers' and Merchants' bank. In a few days Paymaster McCrea will start out with his car to distribute the coin where it will do the most good.

Which his name is T. F. Swanwick, a gentleman of culture and great ability, formerly commercial editor of the San Francisco Alta, etc. He made his debut in our city last year and proposed to take charge of the Argus, but didn't. The next week he is publishing the Trade Circular at Los Angeles. After contracting heavy debts, besides committing several forgeries, he levanted for Frisco with his pard, and now his creditors are anxiously awaiting his return in charge of an officer.—San Bernardino Times.
